

Town finally gives notice that all's fair

IN THE BAG: Jenny Baker (front right) leads the celebration for the Bowness and Windermere Fairtrade Group as new signs are put up at entrances to Windermere

A TEAM of women turned out to mark three signs being put up on roads leading into Bowness and Windermere to highlight the area's ethical status.

Windermere and Bowness Fairtrade Group has had the signs installed almost eight years after first being officially granted Fairtrade status.

Members of the group celebrated with a photo at the Windermere sign followed by coffee at nearby Booths supermarket.

Windermere has enjoyed Fairtrade status since 2003 and is one of a string of towns in the county that has goods being sold under fair terms of trade for farmers and workers.

Find out more at www.cumbriafairtrade.org.uk/index.html